OVERVIEW

The Community Catalyst House Program engages returning students in an environment at Stetson where living, learning and values meet. Students with common (academic or community) interests who have a desire to enhance our campus and community will live together in a residential single-family house environment to meet a challenge facing our community! This two year program is designed to empower students to think deeply about their experiences, Stetson, the DeLand community and our global society. Students are encouraged to be imaginative and design their own community by exploring one's intellectual passions and values, in addition to gaining an awareness of the reality in which others at Stetson and in DeLand experience day to day.
