

Transferable Skill Translation

Perhaps you've participated in activities like student organizations, internships, volunteering, or research during your time as a student. Each experience you've had likely helped you develop skills that you can transfer and apply to new situations. This activity will help you consider how to describe your transferable skills in a scholarship or fellowship application.

Instructions:

1. In the column on the left, list experiences you've participated in as a student along with a brief summary.
2. For each experience, check the box for each skill that you developed or demonstrated as part of that experience.
3. Briefly describe why you chose each skill.
