

Mark Your Calendars

COMMUNITY ENGAGED LEARNING SERIES #1: WHY DO I TEACH IN PRISON?

In this panel, Stetson faculty members will discuss the prison classroom as a unique site for critical community engagement. Faculty will reflect on their involvement with the Community Education Project (CEP) and will share how their experiences in the prison classroom informs their pedagogical approaches on the Deland campus. Attendees will also learn about opportunities to teach and volunteer with CEP.

Presented by:

The Brown Center for Faculty Innovation and Excellence
Community Education Project

Moderator:

Dr. Pamela Cappas-Toro

Brown Faculty Fellow For Community Engagement

November 18th | 12-1:15 pm | Zoom

This panel is part of the center's endeavor to discuss community-engaged learning, research, and service.

Sign Up

